State Picks Air Adjutant

Guard Recognizes Planes' Importance

Michigan led the country in recognizing the importance of the National Guard adjutant general for air in the United States. Brig.-Gen. George C. Moran, Michigan adjutant general, announced that Maj. Urban L. Drew, deputy commander of the 127th Fighter Group at the Detroit-Wayne Municipal Airport will be the first man to hold the new post. He is 24 years old.

In the Lansing adjutant general's office, Drew will handle all administrative work connected with the Air Guard and act as liaison officer between the State Air Guard and 55th Wing Headquarters in Columbus, Ohio, the next highest echelon.

He will serve under Moran and Brig.-Gen. Ralph A. Loveland, commander of the Guard's 56th Infantry Division, and retain his position as deputy group commander.

Appointment of an air adjutant general is the first step any state has taken in divorcing the Air Guard from ground units.

In the three years since reorganization of the Air Guard, it has grown from one squadron and a headquarters with less than 200 men, to an organization of more than 800 men and 60 planes. Previously all air unit administration work was handled by the adjutant general's office by ground officers.

Drew, a member of the Air Guard since it was reorganized, served as a fighter pilot in both the European and Pacific theaters. He is credited with downing seven enemy planes and is the only American pilot who shot down two jet propelled planes.

He lives at 2537 West Grand Boulevard in Detroit.

HOSPITAL AID ELECTS OFFICERS

At the last meeting of Hospital Aid held at the home of Mrs. Esbern Hanson the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. K. Koepfer; first vice-president, Mrs. George Griffith; second vice-president, Mrs. Harold Cliff; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Walter Duden.

All members are urged to come to the meetings. The next meeting will be October 5 at the nurses home. Mrs. W. Dudenewicz and Mrs. J. Cinciala are to be hostesses.

County Republicans Name State Convention Delegates

The County convention to name delegates to the State Republican Convention in Detroit this Friday and Saturday, was held at the Crawford County Club on Monday afternoon.

County Chairman Ray Clement, County Clerk, Leo Lovely and Sheriff William Gonick were named as delegates with George Burke, Paul Feldhauser and William Miller named as alternates.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Clement. Communications were read and Secretary Earl Burns gave a report.

The Crawford County delegates will make their headquarters at the Tuller Hotel in Detroit.

James Taylor of Olivet is visiting his daughter and family, the Frank Bonds, for a few days.

Beaver Creek Oil Field Is Expanding Rapidly

18 Wells Now Producing Oil

Pure Oil Company's No. 1 well which was drilled in a producing oil well in July of last year has opened the way for a tremendous growth in the southwestern part of Crawford County and Beaver Creek Township.

At the present time there are 18 wells producing oil in the field. Part of the wells are located just over the county line in Kalkaska County. They are the property of the Pure Oil Company, the Sun Oil Company and the Superior Oil Company. The Superior Oil Company also has drilled in a gas well which is capped but registers a total production of five million feet of natural gas. The company will use this gas to represent the flowing oil wells unless several more gas wells are located, in which case Grayling might be offered natural gas as a fuel.

The original discovery well is located in the NW 1/4 of the SW 1/4 of Section 17 and at 4,300 feet in the Richfield formation showed a good flow of oil. The well was pushed on down to 4,410 feet and hit oil. It is flowing then at the rate of 20 to 30 barrels of high grade oil per day. The well was acidized and today is flowing at a rate of 60 barrels a day. The Superior Company has one well which is flowing at the rate of 170 barrels a day.

Twenty wells are being drilled at the present time by the companies mentioned while the North

Indies Seek Number 19

The Grayling Independents are taking the field here Sunday at the city park in anticipation of racking up their 19th victory of the season following their victory over West Branch here last Sunday by a 6 to 5 count.

With Bob Gildner hurling, Grayling scored 4 runs in the 4th inning and added 2 more in the 8th to take the game. West Branch scored three times in the sixth and twice more in the seventh. Gildner struck out 6 and gave up 12 hits. Fishman, West Branch chucker struck out 3 and gave up 8 hits. Grayling erred 4 times and West Branch 3 times. Elmer Kellogg collected the only extra base blow, a double.

Grayling's season record now stands at 18 wins, 3 losses and a tie. They lost to West Branch in an earlier meeting at that city and twice to Roscommon in non-league contests. The tie was with the 172nd Fighter Squadron of the Michigan Air Guard. Grayling has scored 204 runs to their opponent's 90.

Next Sunday's contest scheduled with Mio is the season's finale.

Michigan Land and Oil Corporation

Michigan Land and Oil Corporation in conjunction with the George Talbot interests of Saginaw has started a deep test well just one-half mile east of the original discovery well.

A glance at the benefit to be derived by Grayling and Crawford County from the rapidly expanding field can be gained by a statement by John Bruun, manager of the North Michigan Land and Oil Corporation. He stated that more than $3,000 was spent by his company for local labor and material in readying the site of their deep test drilling.

The local company expects to put down several more tests and expects to purchase everything possible in Grayling. Mr. Bruun continued. Another possibility for a part of Crawford County's government to benefit directly from the field is the ownership by Beaver Creek of 40 acres of land which is under lease for exploratory drilling. A well put in on the 40 acre plot would mean an eighth royalty to the township.

The expansion which has exploded in southwest Beaver Creek is not, however, confined directly to drilling. Tank farms for the storage of oil, pipe lines to carry the oil from the wells to the tanks, separator installations to divide

Green Wave Faces Charlevoix Here Friday Afternoon

Outplay But Lose To Boyne 12-6

The Grayling Green Wave is hard at work this week attempting to smooth out their ground attack and to sharpen their blocking and tackling in mind of defeating Charlevoix who invade the local field at 3 P. M. Friday afternoon.

The Rayders will present their usual big, shifty outfit and boast to two big, fast backfield men, in Keith Joffille and Pat Martin. Charlevoix humiliated Mancelona 26 to 6 in their opening game last week while the Wave outplayed and outgained Boyne City but still lost the decision by a 12 to 6 score.

Grayling scored their only touchdown late in the fourth quarter when they took possession of the ball on their own 28 yard line with a mixed air and ground offensive march 72 yards to scoring territory. Boyne pushed over both of their scores in the second

Kiwanis Club Notes

Nearly 100 Kiwanians, their wives and golf club members and their wives enjoyed a potluck dinner meeting at the Golf Club Monday evening.

An invitation was tendered to the Kiwanis Club of Grayling by Golf Club President Dr. J. F. Cook to meet with them for a joint potluck meeting.

About twenty played golf before the 7:30 dinner which was the feature of the evening. Golfers found the course in excellent condition. The greens, while not in top notch shape yet, are in good playing condition. The Golf Club has announced that play could continue on the course for the remainder of the season with no greens fee to be charged. They asked that care be taken while on the greens as they are not in tip top condition.

Seek To Form Grayling Civil Air Patrol Flight

John Selesky Is Acting Flight Leader

Plans are well along for the forming of a Grayling Flight on the North Central Michigan Civil Air Patrol, according to John Selesky of Grayling, who has been appointed acting Flight Leader.

He asked that every interested person keep a close lookout for the publication of an announcement of the date and place of a meeting soon to be held to organize the Grayling Flight. He added that any one in the meantime who is interested in joining the CAP could contact him or CAP member William Johnson, both of whom have application blanks on hand and who can furnish further information.

The Civil Air Patrol was founded during World War II by a group of civilian pilots who volunteered their time and aircraft to the aid of the gigantic war effort.

County Agent Gives Tips

O. F. Walker, who was appointed as County Agricultural Agent for Crawford and Kalkaska counties on August 1, offers the following two hints to farmers of this area in order that they may produce more and better products.

Potatoes—Hints on Digging—Remember the important thing in harvesting a potato crop is not the number of bushels you dig but the number you sell. Do you want to make some easy money? If so—follow the hints below when harvesting your potatoes:

1. Run potato digger point deep enough so plenty of dirt is carried most of the way up the chain. This also stops cutting of tubers.

2. Do not run the digger too fast.

3. If potatoes are being bruised, especially when the soil is dry, you may want to put rollers on the digger instead of shakers.

4. Rubber tubes on the time on back of the digger will stop some bruising of spuds.

5. Do not let pickers throw the potatoes too far in filling baskets and crates.

6. If possible, let potatoes dry on ground one to two hours before picking up.

7. Do not fill crates too full so when loading the top crates will not crush the potatoes in the crate below.

8. In placing the potatoes in storage run them over a sorter or slatted chute so that the dirt will not be run in the bin with tubers. This stops circulation of air.

9. Pick out all rotten potatoes before storing.

10. Do not drop potatoes too far in the bin. Use a zig-zag chute.

11. Have plenty of ventilation in storage so that the excess moisture will be removed quickly. Electric fans help. Keep all doors and windows open the first two or three weeks and longer if weather permits.

Advise Feeding Dairy Cows For Top Production

Feeding dairy cows for maximum production this fall and winter should be more profitable than last year according to Everett E. Peterson, farm management extension specialist at Michigan State College.

Bumper grain crops have already caused a slight drop in feed prices and the demand for fluid milk continues high. Peterson points out. With no surplus of beef, swine and sheep to consume the predicted high yields of grain, he believes it may prove profitable for dairymen to feed heavy for high production.

On the dark side for the Michigan dairyman is the current pasture situation. Most parts of Michigan went through an August dry period which parched pastures. Cows dropped in production because untasty, dried grass was their only diet.

A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman, says fresh cornstalks chopped up in the ensilage cutter each day will temporarily fill in the gap for green feed. Early seedings of rye and wheat for pasture will provide fall pasture if rains are sufficient, Baltzer points out. Fall rains will stimulate pasture growth, but until that time the farmers should provide dairy herds with 70 to 100 pounds of chopped fodder or silage for each animal.

Letters To The Editor

2 61 W. Cortland St., Jackson, Mich., August 30th, 1948

Mr. Augustus Funk, Grayling, Mich., Dear Mr. Funk:

My son, E. W. Thurston spent the week end with me, as he was returning from his vacation at Higgins Lake, to his home in New Jersey, and told me of meeting you while he was seeking for data regarding the early days of Crawford County, and asked me if I remembered any one by the name. Of course I cannot be sure the family I remember by the name was yours.

In April, 1874, my father moved his family to Crawford County, where he had previously homesteaded, in what became the Township of Center Plains, but has since become a part of Beaver Creek Township. I understand, (and I would so much like to know the date of the combination). My mother with three of us younger children went by train from Mason, Ingham County to Roscommon. We had to change cars at Bay City (or possibly it was West Bay City) to a mixed train which ran but three times a week.

After we made the change we learned that a family by the name of Funk, also going to Roscommon, were on the same train coach. The father had gone to look after a car containing their household goods and I think some stock, and missed the train. He had the tickets and Mrs. Funk was greatly distressed. I know my mother was very sympathetic and asked a Dr. McRoberts who was a relative and who was accompanying us, if she would help her. The doctor, who was a R. R. physician said he thought the conductor would allow her to continue the journey, which he did. She had little children with her—two or three little boys as I remember. They stayed at the "Derby House" that night as we did also. My father, who had preceded us a week before came in from the new home for us and we left Roscommon for that place next morning. I was only eight years old and it was all a very new and exciting world to me, so I do not remember hearing any thing. I remember about the "Derby House" that night, though I do remember of hearing occasionally of them in the following years. Our homestead was almost directly south of Cheney and Mr. Funk's was east I believe.

My son was able to get the description of land father afterward purchased (and recorded by him as he was the first supervisor of Center Plains Township) and through the Register of Deeds have obtained a description and registration of title of the original homestead. Crawford County was originally "attached to Kalkaska County" and my father had to go to the village of Kalkaska to the meetings of the Board of Supervisors. He walked to Cheney, rode by train to Frederic, walked across to Mancelona and from there by train to Kalkaska. There was only a "trail" from Frederic across to Mancelona and always it was made in the night—some 20 miles as I remember. I asked many questions of the county officers in a letter but received only the title history which I value as family history.

My son obtained a map of the county and also a map of Beaver Creek Township (27 years old). So I am still questioning for the date of Crawford County becoming "independent" that is the date of Grayling becoming the county seat, and the history of what was Center Plains Township.

I am also searching for the date of Government survey and wondering if there still remain any section corner markers, and also the date of the R. R. (It was then the Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw R. R.) being built from Bay City to Gaylord.

I well remember when it was completed to Mackinaw from Gaylord. My only question for you with all this matter is that I still have a keen interest in those early days and seldom find any one who has any interest or knowledge of the locality.

My father's name was Warren P. Wilcox. I knew very well the older generation of Love's both John and Andrew, and also knew Andrew's parents, the George Loves, and of course some of the early settlers of Cheney, as the Cheney family, the Stewart Hutt's, the Hildreth's and Silsby's. Thank you for listening to the ramblings of an old lady.

Sincerely,
(Mrs. O. B.) Martha Thurston.

During the years we lived in the County there was quite a tragedy happened to a settler some where beyond Cheney, and I first thought it was some named Funk, but have concluded it was not. He was returning home from a distance one bitterly cold night and got within call of his home, his wife had young children and dared not go to meet him, she thought he was retracing his steps and urged him to come toward home but finally she heard him no more, next morning she found him dead beside the path, having either died of exhaustion and cold or of a heart attack. Do you remember that? It was no one we knew personally and perhaps the name was Waltz or a similar name.

Oh, yes, we knew the Woodburns, William taught our school on summer.

Canoe Championships

Well, the Second Annual Michigan Canoe Championships are over and, all in all, it was more successful than the first one last year.

There were a few complaints on the part of contestants and spectators alike. We feel that some were justified. The race can only be brought to a perfect balance after many years of trial and error. Next year, we know, that the misjudgments will be corrected, but, most likely others will pop up. They, of course, will be taken care of as they come along.

One complaint that one hears in Grayling most frequently, and we feel, it is justified after spending Saturday night of the race in Mio and Sunday in Oscoda. That one is that Grayling realizes very little from the race in comparison to Mio and Oscoda. It is true, but, who's fault is it?

Grayling is missing a wonderful opportunity. We have garnered reams of very valuable publicity on the race, but, there is more to be had—and more business, too! The Grayling Chamber of Commerce in promoting the race has its hands full at the time, but, other organizations in the city could pitch in and make a dollar or two for themselves and gain a lot for the city.

The people who come to witness the race, principally its start, arrive in Grayling anywhere from 10 A. M. until noon. As the last canoe leaves Ray's Dock, they are on their way down river to some spot where they can watch the hard working canoeists pass by. Do you think it would be worthwhile to bring that crowd into Grayling on Friday noon instead? Naturally you do.

The first of this year when the first Michigan Canoe Championship committee meeting was held in Standish two letters were read by the secretary from women who wanted to know why the race wasn't open for them. Anyone that has witnessed these big, strong healthy fellows paddle into Oscoda worn to a frazzle knows that there isn't any place in the race for a woman, unless she is an exception.

However, there doesn't seem to us any reason to not promote a women's race from Ray's Dock to Stephan's or Wakeley's Bridge on Friday afternoon—and may be an under 15 years of age race for the kids, too.

It would bring that crowd up here — and better they'd stay until the big race took off on the next afternoon.

The cost in money and arrangements would be small but the returns for the community in added business and publicity would be tremendous. A prize list of $100 would draw entries. Split up, in say, a first of $50, a second of $25, a third of $15 and a fourth of $10.

Some of you lively Grayling organizations ought to talk it over this winter and come forward to sponsor either a women's or children's race. Two groups could go together if need be.—R. W. S.

fort being put out by the Nation in bringing about the final victory of World War II.

These mere handful of men and tiny civilian light planes flew countless hours on submarine patrol on the Atlantic Coast, Gulf of Mexico and Pacific Coast, often loaded with a depth bomb charge under each wing.

Although the effectiveness of their bombing wasn't as great as the military jobs were, they never-the-less were enough to keep the foreign submarine menace to a minimum.

Submarines in using their radio equipment were able to detect the light planes, but being unable to distinguish the type of plane by radio, were forced to lie out to sea for fear it may turn out to be a military aircraft. These missions were flown by private pilots who for one reason or another could not be in the Armed Forces and most of the Civil Air Patrol planes were of the single engine land plane type which of course was a bigger risk out over the open stretches of water.

In order that any pilots being forced down at sea and being captured by enemy forces would not be treated as spies they were granted the privilege of wearing the official uniform of the U. S. Air Force with of course the necessary changes in Civil Air Patrol insignia.

Also some of the details handled by Civil Air Patrol were the flying of badly needed parts to War Production plants and the delivering of vital messages by air when other air facilities were taxed to the limit.

Also CAP helped through their cadet program to give voluntarily, some basic military training to pre-draft and draft age fellows who would be faced with military service at a future date and wanted to be prepared when they were called.

Under the training program such courses as navigation, meteorology, engines and aircraft, communications, military custom and courtesies and also some flying time as observers and navigators. A year ago Congress officially recognized the CAP as an auxiliary to the Air Force and has appropriated much needed training equipment to continue the job began by CAP in war time.

Their peace time objective, now that the draft law is passed and Universal Military Training is begun, is a greatly expanded Cadet training program to be made available to anyone 15 years of age or older who wishes to volunteer their time and energy in helping to preserve and maintain our democracy.

Members 15 years old to 18 are cadet members and over 18 years of age are classified as senior members.

Training films, lectures, and equipment is available through the U. S. Air Force and qualified competent instructors will be available for the various courses. A person does not need to be a pilot to belong and he does not have to fly if he does not desire to. There are several ground positions available and various

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Nicest Compliment
I've Had

One of the nicest comments I've received about this column was from an editor in the Middle West I called on. And while I don't like to give myself orchids, I think it illustrates a point.

"Joe," he said, "it so happens I don't agree with everything you say, but I always like to run your column. Because it gets down to earth and talks about the right to disagree. And it only asks for tolerance towards the other person's point of view."

He went on to explain, by way of illustration, that he never had happened to have a taste for ale or beer. But that when I spoke of the right to enjoy a moderate beverage like beer, well, he was right there with me!

And from where I sit, that's the important thing: not whether you share another person's tastes or point of view—but whether you recognize his right to exercise a free choice in a free land.

New Operation For Mental Illness

A new operation to cure or correct mental illness has been announced by the "Columbia-Graystone Associates in Problems of the Human Frontal Lobe." Called a topectomy, the new surgical procedure involves cutting out a section of the front part of the brain.

Topectomy is a refinement of the much-discussed pre-frontal lobotomy operation. In lobotomy, the fibres connecting the frontal lobe to the rest of the brain are cut. The operation has a death rate of about 4 per cent, and results in improvement about 60 per cent of the time. However, such a big area of the brain is disconnected, that other things may be lost besides the mental illness; and personality changes do result.

In topectomy, surgeons cut only a small part of the brain. Topectomy takes longer than lobotomy, running six to eight hours. Done by skilled neurosurgeons, however, it has a lower death rate. Of 24 cases reported, none died; 20 improved enough to permit their discharge. None changed in personality or intellect.

Not all psychotic patients will benefit from the new operation, and extensive study is required to find out which ones can. Topectomy may prove to be a great source of information and research on the physical aspects of mental behavior. Topectomy patients are not changed overnight. It takes them months to lose their fears and anxieties, and the slow progress provides a step by step study of their mental processes.
